FIRST PRESBYTERIAN PRESCHOOL OFFERING
SCIENCE AND LITERACY BASED AFTERNOON EXPEDITION CLASS

May 26, 2011—The First Presbyterian Preschool of Lake Forest is offering a unique science and literacy exploration curriculum in its afternoon Expedition class for the 2011-2012 school year. To enroll, children must turn 4 by December 31st, 2011.

The afternoon Expedition class has always been popular among families with older siblings already in school, especially since the size of the Expedition class is smaller than the morning Adventure class for 2011. With this in mind, the Preschool created a vigorous integrated science/literacy program for fours, according to Ruth Luke, Director. The curriculum for Expedition will differ from the Preschool's morning Adventure class due to its focus.

"The Expedition class is a fabulous opportunity for fours to participate in a science based learning environment taught by three teachers, two of whom hold Masters' degrees and have extensive teaching experience in science and literacy. "Our Preschool's low student-teacher ratio has always been attractive to parents," said Lisa Cervieri, Enrollment Chair. As with all of our Preschool classes, the goal is to prepare children for lifetime love of learning."

"The afternoon Expedition class presents a stimulating learning environment for 4's who have already or may soon be giving up naps," Director Luke said. "My experience as both a parent and teacher is that afternoon classes actually offer more learning time, simply because children arrive energized and immediately ready to engage."

The Expedition class will meet Monday through Thursday from 12:15 pm-2:45 pm. For more information about the Expedition class or First Presbyterian Church Preschool, please visit www.firstchurchlf.org/preschool or contact Lisa Cervieri at 847-234-8212 or lisacervieri@yahoo.com.
